NIKITA SWINGS THREATS TO KOREA

Pair Saves La Quinta Man's Life

California Highway Patrol officers credited fast and courageous action by two passersby with saving the life of Robert R. Simms of La Quinta Wednesday when his car rolled over and burst into flames on Highway 111 at Palm Desert.

Simms sustained major injuries in the crash, but officers said he certainly would have lost his life if two Los Angeles men driving by Ray and Joe Penabaz, had not stopped and dragged him out of his burning vehicle.

The car was gutted by the flames and, according to police, was a total loss.

It caught fire after it had run out of control, hit a tree, and turned over. Simms was returning home at the time.

Different license plates on front and rear of the vehicle were reportedly being investigated.

Wagner to Seek Re-Evaluation Of PS Property

City Manager Dan Wagner, disappointed by the county assessor's figures on Palm Springs' current assessed property valuation, said Wednesday he would ask for a recheck.

The unofficial total figures released Monday amounted to $7,261,270, up about 7 per cent from last year. Wagner termed this a "disappointment," saying that recently the annual increase has been around 9 per cent and that Palm Springs had its biggest building year in history last year.

Regardless how the recheck comes out however, Wagner emphasized that a planned city tax rate rise of 38 cents per each $100 worth of assessed valuation will not be increased.

The city manager said he had been hoping for a valuation figure of around $7,000,000. But even though the figure was lower than expected it did show that Palm Springs has an assessed valuation almost three times greater than Corona, a city with a comparable official population.

Graveside Rites Held for Infant

Graveside services were held today for Michael Anthony Franz, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Santiago Franz, 683 A St., Cathedral City, who died Tuesday at Casa Hospital.

Father Joseph Leissler, pastor of the St. Louis Catholic Church, officiated at the services at Desert Memorial Park.

Caroline Kennedy Saved in Pool Fall

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Caroline Kennedy, 3, slipped through an inner tube into water over her head at a swimming pool last week and was rescued by the daughter-in-law of a senator, the White House said today.

The daughter of President Kennedy was pulled from the water by Mrs. William Saltonstall, daughter-in-law of Massachusetts Sen. Leverett Saltonstall.

Mrs. Saltonstall, a mother of two children and expecting another, jumped fully clothed into the pool when she saw Caroline was in trouble.

The incident occurred at the suburban Washington home of Jacqueline Kennedy's step-sister, Mrs. Newton Steers. Caroline suffered no ill effects.

The President's daughter had been attending the birthday party of Ivan Steers. She was playing in the swimming pool with the other children at the party and was floating in a little rubber inner tube when she slipped through it into water over her head.

Leaped Into Pool

Jane Saltonstall, in her early 30s, was standing with a group of the other mothers when she spotted Caroline without the tube. White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said that Mrs. Saltonstall leaped into the pool to get the little girl.

Salinger said he didn't believe that Caroline knows how to swim.

Caroline's mother was not at the birthday party. The President's daughter was accompanied by her "Thursday nurse," Salinger said. He explained she is the nurse who works on Thursday when the Kennedy children's regular nurse, Miss Maud Shaw, is off. The substitute nurse was not identified.

Secret Service men were guarding the premises but were not near the children when the incident occurred, Salinger said.

He said that Caroline suffered no ill effects and was soon back playing in the water with the other children after being brought to safety by Mrs. Saltonstall.

"She was fine," he said.

Mrs. Saltonstall's two children are William Jr., 5, and Clare.

Her husband is administrative Assistant to his father.

CAROLINE KENNEDY has close call

The Washington Star, which first printed an account of the incident today, said that Caroline's nurse had gone into the house to change into her bathing suit at the time the little girl was in the pool.

The paper said that by the time Mrs. Saltonstall got to Caroline, her head had gone underwater. The water at that point was four feet deep.

Mrs. Saltonstall, who is expecting another child in two and a half months, jumped in the pool before other bystanders fully realized what was happening.

The Star said that when Caroline was pulled to the surface, she seemed unaware of what had happened and her only reaction was one of surprise.

But, the paper added, "She did express some wonderment that Mrs. Saltonstall should be in the pool with all her clothes on."

Wild Winds And Floods Hit in East

Wild winds and flooding rains swept Kansas City, Mo., today along a storm line stretched all the way from the wheat belt to Maryland.

Crop-parching drought and a spreading grasshopper plague added to weather troubles in the Middle West. Wisconsin authorities appealed for federal aid to farmers to make extended purchases of surplus grain. Indiana entomologists warned that hatching migratory grasshoppers threatened severe crop damage.

North of the storms and east of the drought, July 6 cold weather records were set. All-time lows for the date included 47 at Albany, N.Y., 49 at Syracuse, N.Y., and 50 at Buffalo, N.Y.

The rains in northeast Kansas and northwest Missouri were of record proportions. They closed industrial plants and threatened flash flooding. Winds up to 50 miles per hour damaged buildings and littered streets with fallen trees and branches.

The big Buck-Oldsmobile-Pontiac plant at Kansas City had to shut down after rain waters mounted several feet high in parts of the factory. A gate at the plant measured 4.3 inches of rain in an hour.

Power lines went down in scattered localities throughout Metropolitan Kansas City and many cars were smashed by falling trees. Rain waters clogged the city's sewers and flooded basements.

News In Brief

ALGIERS, Algeria — UPI — French soldiers and police used tear gas today to head off trouble before it got started at a funeral for Muslims killed in rioting Wednesday.

WASHINGTON UPI — The Kennedy administration was reported today to have the wrath of Nationalist China and establish diplomatic relations with the Soviet-sponsored Mongolian Peoples' Republic.

Official sources said preparations were being made to send a U.S. mission to the capital city of Ulan Bator to agree on the level of representation in each country.

LINGAYEN BEACH, Philippines UPI — General of the Army Douglas MacArthur walked across the sands in a tropical downpour today on a visit to Lingayen Beach where he stormed ashore 16 years ago to liberate Luzon.

KUWAIT UPI — Kuwait invited other Arab nations today to send troops to defend this oil-rich little sheikdom against a possible attack by Iraq.

With the United Arab Republic demanding withdrawal of British troops from here, the deputy chief ruler, Abdullah Al-Mubarak Al-Sabah, said Kuwait was "ready to receive any proposal from any Arab country to participate in Kuwait's defense."

CAIRO, U. A. R. UPI — Six British warships completed a peaceful passage through the Suez Canal today without interference from the United Arab Republic and headed for the waters off troubled Kuwait.

LOS ANGELES UPI — Covina Police chief Robert C. Danielson has claimed he was framed on a bribery charge while investigating reports that prostitutes were being solicited in local restaurants.

Danielson said he believed an envelope he was given last Nov. 19 at a restaurant contained information pertaining to the case. But two sheriff's deputies who stopped him as he left the place opened the envelope and found $250 in it.

LOS ANGELES UPI — The parents of a University of Southern California dental student who choked to death on a piece of raw liver during a fraternity initiation have received a $35,000 settlement of their $750,000 damage suit.

North Backed by 'All Red Force,' Warns Premier

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev trained his sights on the Far East today by promising to support North Korea "with all forces" if it is attacked by South Korea.

The Soviet Premier, speaking to a Soviet-Korean "friendship meeting" in the Kremlin, all but ignored the Berlin crisis during his 40-minute address.

He devoted only one paragraph to Berlin, repeating his determination to sign a peace treaty with East Germany, which, he said, "will radically improve the situation in Europe."

Khrushchev devoted most of his speech to Korea, but ranged around the world in these comments:

—U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Adlai E. Stevenson's visit to South America "did not produce the results Washington had hoped for," since there is a growing protest against the "rule of American monopolies."

"Iran is seething, and the reactionary regime there is encountering ever greater difficulties," despite aid from "American imperialists."

—The South Vietnamese want to "throw the placement of American capital out of the country" and seek "reunification with their brothers in the north."

—The present Japanese government "grovels before the imperialists of the United States who have enmeshed Japan in a net of military bases and do not want to let her escape their control."

Khrushchev used the meeting to announce a new Soviet-North Korean pact of mutual military assistance, friendship and cooperation, signed with visiting North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung.

Observers here saw the pact as another sign that Moscow is winning its ideological battle with Red China for control of Asia's Communists.

Russians Charge U.S. 'Piracy'

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union charged today that American planes buzzed Russian ships 300 times in the last six months in acts of "high seas piracy."

The official Soviet trades union newspaper Trud said several of these incidents took place near Cuba and charged that "nearly all Soviet ships off Cuban shores are subjected to such provocations."

Trud said the "piratic sorties" are made from bases located outside the United States, including those in Spain, Italy, Greece and Turkey.

Other incidents took place near Japan and in the South China Sea, Trud said.

Killer-Kidnaper Manhunt Spread To 4 States

MOAB, Utah (UPI) — The FBI joined small-town marshals today in the four state manhunt for a stocky killer and the teen-aged girl he kidnapped.

Sheriff John Stocks said the odds were 1,000 to 1 that 14-year-old Denise Sullivan of Rockville, Conn., would be slain by the same man who killed her divorced mother and wounded a traveling companion.

DENISE SULLIVAN

... worst feared

"At first I thought there was about 1 chance in 100 the girl might be found alive," Stocks said, "but now I feel the figure is no better than 1 in 1,000."

Slain by a .22-caliber bullet in the back of the head Tuesday was Mrs. Jeanette Sullivan, 41, mother of the missing girl. The third victim of the holdup-shooting near Dead Horse Point in the Utah Badlands was Charles Boothroyd, 35, also of Rockville. He underwent facial surgery to remove two bullets Wednesday night and was reported in fair condition today in Salt Lake City.

Because of the rocky, uninhabited country, locating the blue and white Ford in which the bandit and his captive were thought to be riding was difficult, even from the air. There are few roads in the Colorado River country, an area slashed by canyons. Most of the roads are uranium mining trails.

An all-day search Wednesday that utilized both planes and helicopters failed to produce results. Ground parties also were used throughout the hundreds of square miles of possible hiding places.

HEMINGWAY GIVEN FINAL RESTING PLACE IN IDAHO

KETCHUM, Idaho (UPI) — Novelist Ernest Hemingway, 61, whose life of high adventure around the world ended with a shotgun blast Sunday, was laid to rest today in a quiet country cemetery.

The author was buried in a rose covered casket after simple graveside services conducted by a Roman Catholic priest whom he had never met.

Father Robert J. Zalman, parish priest of Ketchum, began the informal service with a quote from Ecclesiastes 1:4.

"One generation passeth away, and another generation cometh, but the earth standeth forever." The service was closed with a series of Catholic prayers by the priest.

Mrs. Mary Hemingway, the author's fourth wife, was dressed for the funeral in a simple black jersey dress and a small black hat without a veil. She and other members of the funeral party waited at the cemetery for the hearse which brought Hemingway's body from Hailey, 12 miles away from this Sun Valley area village.

Man Bites Bear

AVEZZANO, Italy UPI — Shepherd Antonio Ferrante was tending his flock in the rugged Abruzzi Mountains when a huge bear came out of the woods. The shepherd shot the bear with his rifle, but only wounded it slightly.

Ferrante then hit the bear on the nose. The animal turned and ran.

LAND PASSAGE STALLS

Whitewater Dike Work Planned

The Coachella Valley County Water District is ready to construct a 4½-mile dike to shield the exposed northeast section of the city of Palm Springs from Whitewater River flood damage but lack of rights-of-way across Indian lands is stalling the work, The Desert Sun learned today.

Lowell Weeks, general manager of the district, announced that $210,000 for this project and two others in the Palm Springs area, was set up in the 1961-62 budget.

One of the other two projects will afford flood protection for the Palm Springs Panorama subdivision lying north of Ramon Road.

The third will be an extension of the main Whitewater River flood channel from Country Club Drive in the vicinity of Thunderbird Country Club to the Rio del Sol road which extends north out of Rancho Mirage.

Weeks and district president Leon Kennedy said they have been striving for months to break the bottleneck in negotiations for rights-of-way across Indian lands along the northeast perimeter of Palm Springs, to make possible a start of the badly-needed dike construction. There is hope now for a break in the stalemate, Weeks said.

The proposed dike would take off from a point on the west side of the Whitewater River channel, one mile north of Ramon Road, and extend 4½ miles north and west to Highway 111 near the city limits. Last year the district built a dike along the river course for a mile north of Ramon Road but was blocked from further work by inability to obtain the Indian land easements.

Explaining the project, Weeks pointed out that flood waters from the Whitewater River, San Geronimo Pass, Snow Creek and Chino Creek all would converge in the area north of Palm Springs, and the northeastern corner of the city has been regarded as one of the most vulnerable points yet remaining unprotected in the 10-year, $4 million dollar program of the CV-CWD to tame the "100 - year flood" when it comes.

He said that the district is reshaping the entire Whitewater River course over a distance of 50 miles from the mouth of Whitewater Canyon to the Salton Sea. The channel is being designed to carry three times the flow experienced in the disastrous 1938 flood.

The dike to be constructed for protection of the Panorama subdivision and other properties along Ramon Road will extend for 2½ miles northward from a point one mile north of Ramon Road where the channeling was halted last year. This man-made river bank will divert waters of Mission and Morongo Creek washes into the Whitewater river bed instead of permitting them to meander over the desert landscape southward toward Thousand Palms as in former years. Subdividers of the area put up $25,000 toward the dike construction, and the district will pick up the rest of the tab.

Extension of the main Whitewater channel from Country Club Drive to Del Sol road will relieve added property in that section from the threat of flood damage. The giant ditch is complete past Cathedral City and to Thunderbird, and the new project will take the water flow past Rancho Mirage. The remainder of the storm water program eastward toward Indio will be completed as rapidly as funds are available,

"FAIRLY GOOD" is the condition today in Desert Hospital of Carol Lee Hansen, 3, who was nearly drowned in a Palm Springs hotel pool Tuesday. Her physician, Dr. John W. Nevins, said the tot is regarded definitely out of danger although the threat of some brain damage still exists. "We hope it is going to be a complete recovery, but you can't tell at the moment," he added. (Desert Sun Photo)

Shakeup Called For in PS Chest Makeup

By JACK KNUDSON
Managing Editor

Reorganization of the Palm Springs Community Chest to spread leadership over a greater number of people appeared imminent following a study session of group officers and civic representatives Wednesday.

Starting on the premise that "there's something wrong with our Community Chest" the group launched a study program designed to improve the results obtained by the community's charity support organization.

Principal speaker at the session conducted in the Riviera Hotel was L. B. Jefferies, manager of the United Fund at Phoenix, Ariz., an organization held an outstanding example of successful united charity operation.

It was Jefferies who indicated "something wrong" with the Palm Springs chest effort, pointing up that the recently finished drive raised only $68,000, which was only 72.3 per cent of its goal.

"You ought to raise at least $3.50 per capita on the basis of your peak winter population, about $125,000," Jefferies said.

The Phoenix man then went on to outline possible improvements locally, particularly stressing a need to include a greater number of residents in the organization and work of the Community chest.

"Your 12-man advisory board certainly isn't big enough," he said, "it might be good to raise its membership to as high as 50."

A lively question and answer period that revealed strong feeling for chest support and desire for improvement followed Jefferies' talk.

The Rev. F. A. Barnhill, chest vice-president, conducted the luncheon session which was attended by Fred Anderson, Lester Selig, Mrs. Laura Simmons and Robert W. Baker of the executive committee, agency representatives Mrs. C. F. Dolley, Mrs. Fred Morrison, Don Goundry, Orville Zappe and Ray Lockwood.

Guests participating included William H. Smith, Jimmy Cooper, Zachary Pitts, Ray Randolph, Mrs. Ruth Hardy and Jack Knudson.

Baker, executive secretary, announced following the meeting that the latest figure on the chest drive was 73.15 per cent, about $27,000 short of this year's goal.

1 Dead as Bus Skids Into Tree

CENTREVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — A Trailways bus skidded out of control in the rain early today and careened into a tree that almost cut it in half, killing a woman and injuring the other 30 persons aboard.

Richard Foster, associate administrator of the Fairfax County Hospital, said "three or four" of the injured were in serious condition. The others, he said, would probably be released after their cuts and bruises were treated.

The wreck occurred about a mile from Centreville, near Washington, D.C.

It required nine ambulances to get the casualties to the hospital. Foster said "a number" of the injured were children.

The dead person was a Washington woman. The bus was bound for Washington from Charlotte, N. C.

ALAN LADD:

Raising Actor Son Calls for Planning

(Editor's note: Vernon Scott is on vacation. Actor Alan Ladd, the father of three youngsters, deliberates the wisdom of allowing children to follow the careers of their parents.)

By ALAN LADD

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actors are often called up to answer the question, "Would you want your child to be an actor?" The answers are usually cut and dried, so to speak, in three categories. Some unreservedly say "yes," some give the ideal answer, "if he wants to," and still others object with a violent "not."

Having a 14-year-old son, David, who is an actor and who seems to be making a success of it with five starring films to his credit, (the latest being "Misty," I, obviously, fall in the first and second categories—the first only because of the second.

However, it isn't really as easy as that to decide for myself. In fact, my wife, Sue Carol, and I have spent many hours discussing the matter. When David began his acting career two years ago as a deaf mute in "Proud Rebel," we had to decide what kind of life David would lead.

Still Gets Allowance

Of course, we're proud of him and really hope that he will be as successful as an adult actor as he has proven himself as a teen-ager.

But, the question still remains, how do parents raise a son who is earning a good salary and making himself known at the same time—when his father is in the same business.

The first thing we had to do was to establish a policy around the house and then be sure we enforced it. David can act as much as he wants, so long as it doesn't interfere with his growing up or interrupt his schooling.

We try to make him realize the value of a dollar, even though he's earning more than boys his age usually earn. Rather than handing him a checkbook with a full account, we give him a small allowance. It puts him on an equal financial basis with his friends at school. The rest of his money is put in savings. And he has no idea as to how much he has in his account.

On Swimming Team

Both Sue and I feel that it's important for David to lead a normal life and to develop a wide variety of friends, not just movie acquaintances. We miss having him around the house more, but he actually enjoys staying around school with "all the guys."

At home he spends a lot of time riding and swimming. He puts his swimming practice to good use at school, where he is a member of the swimming team. It's pretty tough to try to tell your son he's got to be "one of the gang," so we think we're pretty lucky that we don't have to. He loves baseball, so gets a lot of practical experience in teamwork, which he can also use in his movie work.

When I face up to the child-actor problem which is so often thrown at actor-fathers, I can honestly say I don't feel I have a problem. I believe it is possible for an actor's son to follow a successful screen career and lead a normal teen-age life. I think David has proved that I'm right.

COOLEY PENS SONGS WHILE AWAITING TRIAL

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI) — "Can't you know I love you and you'll always be my wife."

While Spade Cooley sits in the Kern County jail awaiting trial on charges of beating his wife to death, he has been writing songs. The sad lyrics of one seem to be directed to the woman he is accused of murdering.

His wife, Ella Mae, 37, was found beaten to death in the couple's Willow Springs ranch home. Spade's 14-year old daughter described at the coroner's inquest how he kicked, beat and burned with cigarettes her mother's nude body.

Spade sat through the testimony in a daze.

He was scheduled to visit the scene of his wife's death today with his attorney.

His cell-written songs were obtained Wednesday by western radio entertainer Jimmy Thomason.

One song was called "Faith" and written after the prisoner heard a group of young church people, who visit the jail each Sunday. He presented it to the group's pianist and it was sung during a service last Sunday.

Low-Cost Housing Project Planned At City Limits

By KEN REICH
Sun Staff Writer

Palm Springs financiers today are negotiating for purchase of land at the north edge of the city as the site for a low-cost FHA project to house families being evicted from Section 14.

The activity was disclosed by attorney Thurman Arnold, who declined to identify principals in the negotiations.

"Nothing has jelled yet," said Arnold. "But this is the obvious thing to do. Many people here are moving in this direction."

It was emphasized that the people doing the bargaining are in no way connected with builder Joseph M. Jackson, head of the Citizens Committee of Section 14, who is currently seeking FHA backing for low-cost housing he is building one-half mile north of Garnet.

Jackson is the only other party known to be planning low-cost housing for the Section 14 evictees.

Arnold said the main problem his group faces is getting the land at a low enough price to make it financially feasible. He stated they would probably not be able to afford more than $3,000 an acre.

"Most of the land is so high around here, but low-cost rentals are the only solution to the eviction problem I know of," Arnold said.

Anthony Eden Named an Earl

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II has conferred an earldom on Sir Anthony Eden, it was officially announced today.

Sir Anthony, who was foreign minister to Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill, was prime minister of Britain until shortly after known to be planning low-cost the 1956 Suez crisis.

Mass Census Slated in Cuba For Rationing

HAVANA (UPI) — The Cuban Women's Federation plans a nationwide registration of citizens for the impending rationing of animal fats, a staple in the diet of Cubans, it was reported today.

The government newspaper Combate said the organization will send 36,000 women to all corners of the island to begin organizing the population for distribution of the fats. The federation is headed by Vilma Espin, wife of Raul Castro, the defense minister and brother of Premier Fidel Castro.

Premier Castro announced the rationing plans in a television appearance Tuesday night. He claimed animal fats were in short supply because of an embargo by the United States.

Castro said that in order to regulate the supply of fats, each citizen would be allotted one pound per month over a period of a year.

School District State Funds for Year Listed

Palm Springs Unified School District received $497,808 in state school fund money for 1960-61, according to figures released today by Assistant Superintendent Jack Miles.

The state apportioned $680,000.00 to more than 1,600 school districts during the past year to help meet the costs of public education from kindergarten through junior college, Miles noted.

Palm Springs schools received $4,183 in special funds for education of handicapped pupils, $21,120 for student transportation, and $11,333 for enrollment increases over 1959-60. These sums were included in the total apportionment.

State funds were an estimated 41 per cent of the tax funds spent on public education during 1960-61. The state pays districts a flat $125 per student, then adds more funds when districts cannot raise sufficient money with the minimum tax required.

State Department of Education officials estimate local needs on per student educational costs set at $234 for elementary, $324 high schools and $424 junior college. It was pointed out that actual educational costs per student in 1959-60 were $361, $560, and $662 in elementary, high school, and junior college districts respectively.

Miami Meet Hands Jimmy Hoffa New Powers, Money

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—James R. Hoffa was armed today with a $12 million dues increase, a pay raise and vastly greater powers to start his new organizing and political offensive.

The Teamsters president crushed all opposition Wednesday night in an overtime session at the union's convention that awarded him a $25,000 a year pay increase in less time than it takes to count it.

His outnumbered opponents protested that Hoffa-backed changes in the Teamsters constitution would stifle rank and file participation. They were routed in a series of one-sided votes.

Hoffa, hoarse but happy after Wednesday night's display of his iron-clad grip on the convention, set Friday for the election that will keep him in the top job for another five years.

The strongest opposition developed against his demand for a compulsory $1 a month dues increase on each member of the nation's biggest union except for "hardship cases."

Speaks For Dissenters
Edward H. Painter of Oakland, Calif., Local 770 spoke for many dissenting delegates when he told Hoffa:

"Inch by inch you've taken away our local autonomy. And now you want us to pay the freight."

The 48-year-old union leader rejected the claims and said the additional funds will be used to provide a pension plan for local union officers, raise strike benefits, expand organizing drives and increase political action programs.

Allies of Hoffa buried a demand for a referendum among the 1.7 million Teamsters to choose the top officers.

This was a bitter defeat for Hoffa's only announced rival for the presidency, Milton J. Liff of Newark, N.J., who demanded the secret ballot referendum.

Turn Down Referendum
Delegates turned it down with a deafening "no."

Hoffa's major victory was convention approval of a $12-million revenue-raising plan that he advocated.

It calls for 60-cent monthly increases in the present 40-cent tax imposed on each member and a boost in minimum dues from $3 to $5 a month for virtually all of the 887 locals.

Hoffa gavelled through his own pay raise to $75,000 a year and an unlimited expense account without any debate. Salaries of the 13 Teamsters vice presidents were doubled.

Delegates were scheduled to plow through a maze of relatively non-controversial revisions in the bylaws today before turning to the election Friday.

Sammy, May Have Daughter

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Blonde actress May Britt, wife of Negro entertainer Sammy Davis Jr., gave birth to a daughter Wednesday at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Dr. Paul Steinberg attended the birth and said the mother and daughter were getting along fine. "This is the happiest day of my life," said Davis at the hospital after visiting his wife and the baby.

Asked what the infant looked like, Davis smiled and said:

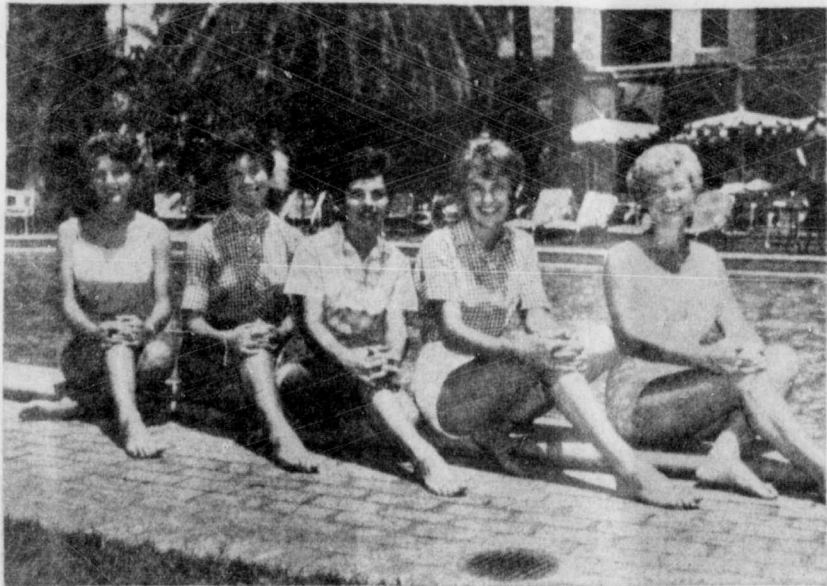

"It's just a beautiful baby."

Davis, appearing in "Soldiers 3" with Frank Sinatra, left the set of the movie to be at the bedside of his wife.

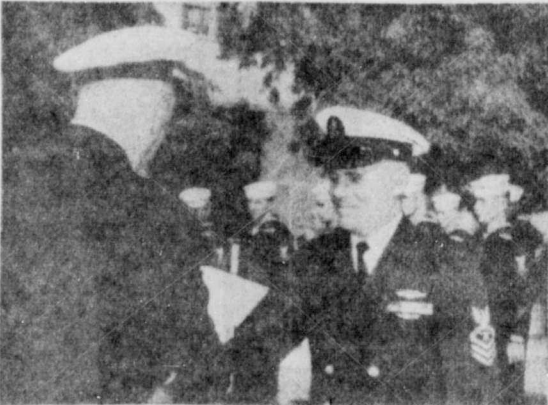

Davis, 34, and Miss Britt, 24, both married once before, were wed in a religious ceremony Nov. 13, 1960.

Officers' Time Donation At Fireworks Show Lauded

Smooth-running success of the annual fireworks display staged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night was due in large measure to members of the Palm Springs Police Reserve, Police Chief Gus Kettmann confirmed today.

Ten members of the reserve, along with 10 regular officers who normally would have been off duty, staffed the Polo Grounds event as a community contribution.

This donation of time, Chief Kettmann said, made possible no loss of security in other parts of the city as regular shifts were worked with full manpower.

The fireworks show officers, under reserve commander Capt. Wilbur Neblung, took two youths into custody for tossing firecrackers and endangering some of the crowd of more than 5,000 attending. It was the only incident of the evening.

Chief Kettmann pointed out that the valuable services of the reserve come to the city at no charge. Unpaid reserve officers—clerks, salesmen, schoolteachers and such in everyday life—pay for half of their uniform and the entire price of firearms and equipment.

Scholarship to Be Given Tonight

A $300 scholarship to the college or university of his choice will be awarded in judging tonight to one of five Palm Springs and Coachella Valley High School students who have applied for a special Southern California Freight Lines grant.

Dr. Roy McCall, chairman of a panel of judges who will review the applications, said he was "extremely pleased" with the caliber of students seeking the scholarship. All of them had better than a B average in high school.

Tractor Cash Return Eyed

DETROIT (UPI)—The Tractors for Freedom Committee plans to announce by week's end how it will go about returning the contributions it received to buy tractors for Fidel Castro.

Labor leader Walter P. Reuther and Detroit banker Joseph Dodge met here Wednesday and conferred by telephone with other committee members, including Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Dr. Milton Eisenhower, on plans for returning the money received in more than 70,000 pieces of mail.

They said they would issue a statement by the end of the week. Originally the committee intended simply to have the mail returned unopened by the post office as undeliverable mail. But Mrs. Roosevelt was reported to want a thank-you note to be sent back along with each contribution.

Mounties Asked To Sunday Event

Palm Springs Mounted Police members are invited to join the Los Compadres for their Sunday evening cocktail hour at the "Hof's Hacienda," 590 Indian Trail, Capt. Clare Ballagh said today.

Members and their wives may come for swimming at 3 p.m. The actual party is scheduled to begin at 6 and last until 8 p.m., Ballagh stated.

The Mounted Police will hold its regular monthly meeting at 8 p.m. next Wednesday, at the police station.

Russians Waging Campaign to Indicate In U.S. Berlin Not Perilous Situation

EDITORS' NOTE — In the following dispatch a UPI diplomatic reporter analyzes the psychological warfare pressures now being exerted over the Berlin crisis.

By STEWART HENSLEY
WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is strong evidence of a coordinated Communist campaign to blunt

Kennedy Pushes Road Repairing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy has ordered foreign aid officials to get busy and repair a $30 million road in Cambodia built two years ago to demonstrate American friendship and technology. It already is falling apart.

United Press International learned today that Kennedy told International Cooperation Administration to give "top priority" to repairing the Cambodian-American friendship highway.

The 130-mile road was built under the U.S. foreign aid program two years ago. But, much to the embarrassment of Cambodia and the United States and the glee of Communists, it is falling to pieces under heavy rains.

Prince Sihanouk of Cambodia recently started out on the road from Phnom Penh to the sea, but the road — which has as many cracks as a sun-baked mud flat in some sections — was so bad he had to turn back and go by helicopter.

President Kennedy's efforts to alert the American public to the peril of the Berlin situation.

This Communist "soft sell," if successful, also could seriously hamper plans to strengthen NATO against renewed Russian pressure in Europe.

While Kennedy ponders the need for partial U.S. mobilization and strengthened American forces in Europe, the Communists have started talking about possible negotiations.

As the President and his top advisers consider ways to prepare the American people for stern steps to meet a showdown over Berlin, reports of sharply increased bitterness between Russia and Red China have been permitted to leak through the Iron Curtain.

Each day brings a new rash of hints from Communist sources in London, Paris and elsewhere that Soviet Leader Nikita S. Khrushchev is really anxious for some form of negotiations with the West.

The latest reports are that he wants a Big Four summit meeting on Berlin and Germany this fall, Russian and other Communist officials now are soft pedaling Khrushchev's year-end deadline for the allies to get out of Red-encircled Berlin or face the possibility of a new blockade.

American officials know that tension is increasing between Moscow and Peking because of differences over how to handle cold war issues. The Chinese consistently have wanted a tougher approach, have shown greater willingness to risk war with the West.

However, top U. S. officials frankly acknowledge they have no evidence yet to support the latest and most spectacular reports of Sino-Soviet feuding.

These reports, published in the Sunday Times of London, assert that Khrushchev has sent a letter to Communist parties in some foreign countries sharply denouncing Red China's policy as one likely to lead to war.

The Russian leader was said to have been especially critical of a MaoTse-Tung's obsession with the Formosa issue, which the Kremlin does not believe would be a major military conflict.

True or not, U.S. officials are fearful that some sectors of U.S. opinion feel it would be better to strike a compromise deal with a peacefully inclined Russia, than risk all-out conflict.

Kennedy so far has failed to take a decisive step on two major lines of action in the Berlin and German situation.

He has yet to answer Khrushchev's June 4 memorandum in which the Soviet leader renewed his demands for a Berlin and German settlement on his terms. And the President has yet to disclose what he wants the U.S. people to do to show a "greater awareness" of danger which he has mentioned.

Safety Measures For Vacationtime

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
NEW YORK UPI — Bone up on safety to keep your family unfractured, unburned and alive during vacation season.

The opposite — heedlessness — pays off in injury and death each July and August for hundreds bent on fun.

Consider some costs of booby traps:

—Burns from too much sun and carelessness around the barbecue pit.

—Stomach upsets from food poisoning and skin eruptions from poison ivy, careless use of insecticides.

—Heart attacks and strained backs from overexertion.

—Drowning when overloaded boats overturn and dying when loaded drivers lose their senses.

—Amputated toes through careless use of power mowers and lost sight because someone fell on a rake left — teeth up — on the lawn.

Keep tragedy at bay by following tips cited by the National Safety Council and other safety experts.

PREVENT cook out catastrophes by doing your cooking in the open, away from anything that might catch fire. Situate the grill on a solid footing. Never use gasoline, kerosene or lighter fluid to start a fire. Keep a bucket of sand near the grill. Use it to douse a grease fire. Keep the children away from the hot grill.

WARD — OFF SUN BURN. Get your tan the safe, slow way. Use creams and lotions that screen out the sun's most harmful rays, even if you claim the sun doesn't bother you. There's always a first time. If you're very fair-skinned, keep covered most of the time when in the sun. The very young also should get their sun in small, safe doses.

SWIM LIKE A FISH but be smart. Swim within reach of help. Don't dive unless you know what's below the surface of the water. Keep a watchful eye on children in the water — and near the water. Floating tubes and toys are loads of fun, but they also can carry youngsters into deep water and danger if the tube becomes punctured.

BOAT ALL YOU WANT but stay alive. Don't load more people into your boat than it will hold. All boats should have approved life jackets.

It's best to stay ashore in bad weather or after dark. Don't trust your family to a boat that isn't absolutely seaworthy. Inspect before each use. Always carry a fire extinguisher and lights.

IF YOU'RE DRIVING get the car checked before take-off. Take your time, especially on unfamiliar roads or when traffic is heavy. If you're tired, don't drive. When making emergency stops, pull completely off the road. Keep lights on low beam when making night stops. Get passengers out of car and to a safe place. Post flares or someone with a flashlight to warn approaching traffic.

VACATION WORK at home. Watch your feet when using the lawnmower. Check the ladders before starting to paint.

Employment Hits Record in June

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Employment climbed to an all-time high in June, the Labor Department reported today.

Unemployment also rose as the closing of schools sent a record 2.5 million teen-agers flocking into the job market.

The jobless total rose by $12,000 to 5,580,000, the highest June unemployment level in 20 years. The increase had been expected, however, because of seasonal factors.

The Labor Department said that about 500,000 adult men found jobs. It called this "a better than seasonal pick-up" and said it apparently reflected in part the continuing recovery in industrial production.

The number of employed Americans rose by 1,228,000 to 68,707,000. But this was only a thin 17,000 above the previous peak reached last July. Since then the labor force has grown by 1.3 million persons.

Most of this increase showed up in the unemployment column, which was 1.2 million higher than in June, 1960.

Both employment and unemployment rose in June because the government counts as jobless anyone looking for work. Thus, 900,000 of the teen-aged job seekers, including those seeking only summer work, were counted as unemployed. Another 700,000 youngsters were looking for permanent jobs.

Bowl Concert Will Be Aired

Opening concert of the Hollywood Bowl's 1961 season will be broadcast "live" to Southland audiences in stereophonic sound starting at 8 p.m. tonight as a special feature of the regular Gas Company Evening Concert program.

Initial "Symphony Under the Stars" will be aired from 8-10 p.m. over radio station KFAC-AM and FM. The program may also be heard singly over either Los Angeles station, and on KPRO, Riverside.

The opening Bowl concert will feature the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by Erich Leinsdorf, and soprano Inge Borkh.

"WILLING WATER" YOUR SERVANT

With News From Your Water Company

Is the Price Too High?

The dollar cost of providing increased water supplies under current conditions will be high. Will it be too high?

It took just one hot, dry summer to imperil the water supply of many millions of people. Suppose next year—or the year after—brings similar conditions?

Picture a shortage that goes beyond the critical stage. New York was only days away from such a crisis. Some smaller places went through it.

Picture a water supply inadequate to handle a serious fire. Picture a water supply insufficient to maintain proper sanitation. Picture a water supply no longer able to keep industrial processes functioning.

One uncontrolled fire, one epidemic, a group of major industries lost to the community—any of these could involve an expense beside which the price of improved water supplies—even with costs what they are—would hardly be noticeable.

Water is essential to life—the life of a city as well as the life of a human being. Without water, a man dies. Without water, a community faces the same fate.

In the face of a crisis, no price can be too high. High prices paid to prevent a crisis are low prices!

Tierney Plea Set Next Week

BEVERLY HILLS (UPI)—Lawrence Tierney, bad-boy actor arrested on a drunk charge when he attempted to crash a Liz Taylor-Eddie Fisher party for touring Russian dancers, today was granted a continuance for entering his plea.

The husky actor who had had a succession of scrapes with police since he portrayed gangster John Dillinger on the screen more than 15 years ago appeared in Municipal Court on schedule.

He stated that his attorney was out of town and was granted a continuance until next Wednesday to enter his plea. The actor was permitted to remain free on $363 bail.

PROGRESS MADE

'Mental Health' Difficult to Define

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—It's been hard going for 50 years but now most Americans favor good treatment for the mentally ill and large segments of the population have even been convinced mental health is a highly desirable something which can be achieved.

In making this appraisal of a little-noted triumph of science and reason, Dr. Nina Ridenour said it had come about despite science's inability to say precisely what mental health is in a way which would fit most if not all mentally healthy people.

She thought it "regrettable" the social scientists in this field substituted the term, "mental health," for their old term, "mental hygiene," beginning around 1940. They wanted a new term with more public appeal, she said.

Many Definitions

But they got a term with so many possible definitions it proved a source of disagreement and so of disunity among themselves. The old one was much better because "mental hygiene" means only one thing—"a body of knowledge about the preservation and promotion of mental health."

For a while this change in terms was hurtful but "in recent years some of the focus on the care and treatment of the mentally ill has been restored and the total mental health movement, though retaining the broader concept of mental health, can no longer be accused of stressing mental health to the neglect of the still unsolved problems of mental illness and mentally ill people."

Nevertheless, she continued, the emphasis on "positive" mental health achieved good. Large segments of the population now realize human behavior is never an accident but has causes. That is a basic "mental health principle," and there are others, which have also come into wide acceptance.

People now know "that emotions and unconscious drives are powerful motivating forces, that the satisfaction of basic physical, psychological and social needs is

Cantaloupe Brightens Sundaes

Something new under the sundae category is a Cantaloupe Sundae. Top vanilla ice cream with California cantaloupe balls in lemon-flavored sauce, or center an easy-to-scoop cantaloupe half with a scoop of sauce-covered ice cream or sherbet.

The vine-ripened flavor of California cantaloupes provides true summer refreshment in countless recipes. Identify these beige-colored melons by their high, well-defined, close net; clean stem ends; thick pinkish meat—firm but tender—and relatively small seed cavities.

To make Cantaloupe Sundaes, stir together until well-blended: ½ cup light corn syrup, ¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind, one tablespoon lemon juice. Spoon over two cups California cantaloupe balls; serve on vanilla ice cream. Or arrange balls of vanilla ice cream in California cantaloupe halves; spoon sauce over ice cream. Sauce is sufficient for four to six sundaes.

Sundaes can be even more colorful, when a variety of melon balls are served with ice creams and sherbets. Persian, honeydew, cranshaw and watermelons will soon reach the height of their productive season.

A scalloped watermelon shell, lined with aluminum foil, can double as a colorful platter for finger sandwiches or relishes.

A pleasant and convenient topping for sundaes is strained fruits. All the muss and fuss of straining fruits has been done for you by baby food manufacturers. These varieties that receive coos from babies will receive coos from adults, when served over vanilla ice cream.

Patios Offer Elbow Room to The Family

Have you ever had that feeling that you need "elbow room"? Perhaps what you need is an extra family room, a place to entertain, to have barbecues, to stretch out and relax. Maybe you'd just like an outdoor retreat where you can go during the hot summer days, or perhaps there's a teenager in the family who likes to have his friends over for a rock 'n' roll session. Have you thought about using a patio to give your home more space?

In these days of new thinking and new ideas in homes, the Spanish term "patio"—meaning "court yard"—has come to be used nationwide to describe an entire new concept in making the outdoors a part of the family's living quarters.

Until not very long ago, houses were built with "porches," and there were "back porches" and "front porches." Sometimes they were covered and sometimes not. "Terraces" usually designating a paved portion of the yard, were also much used.

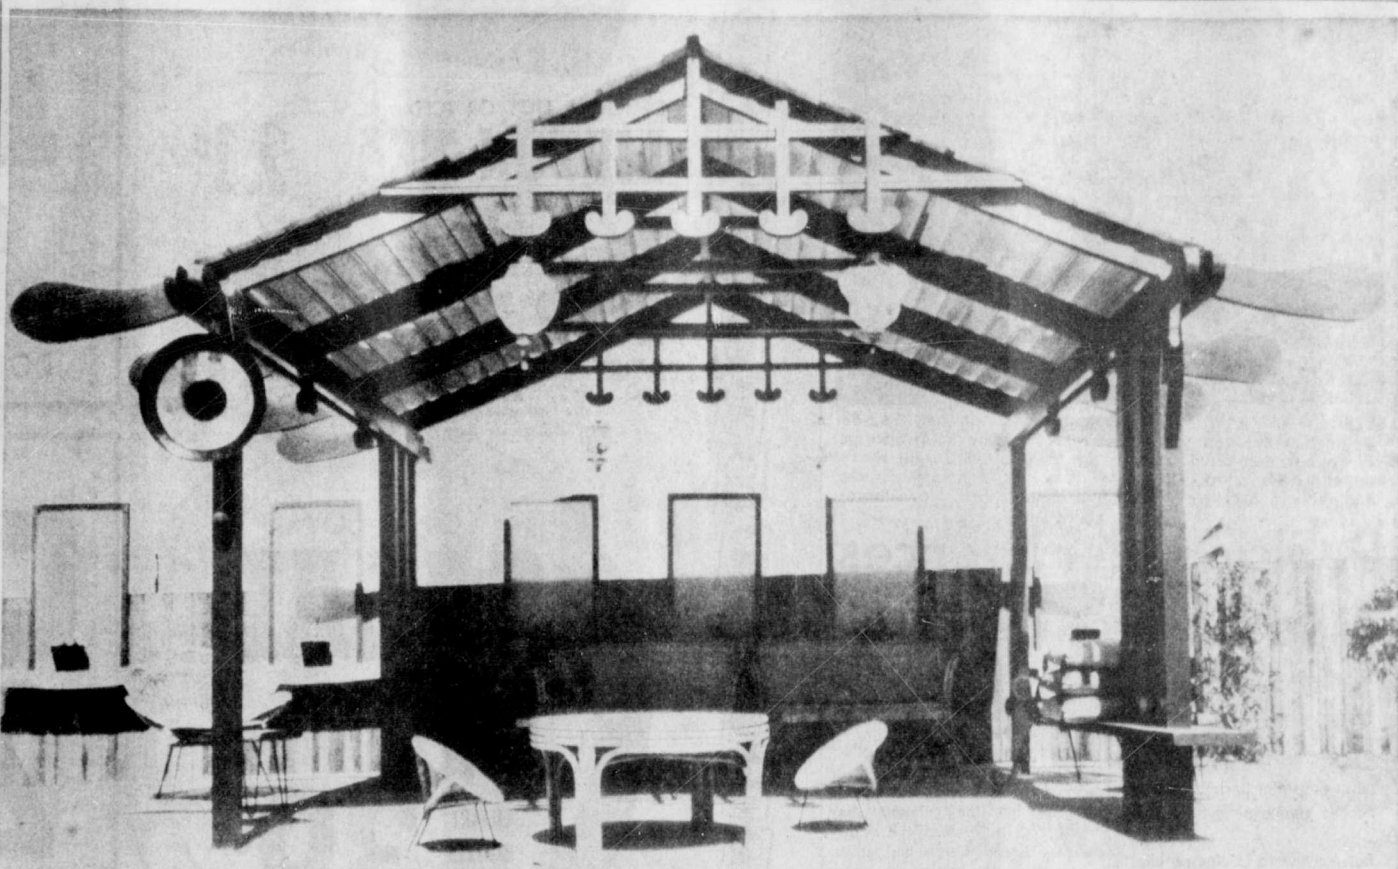

But in the new homes of today, the American patio has superseded both the porch and the terrace. The result has been the creation of a complete "outdoor room," and in Palm Springs it's likely to feature a swimming pool.

To a very large extent, however, development of the American patio had to wait until the invention of certain important structural materials. One of the most important of these for patio living has been translucent fiberglass plastic panels. The lightweight, colorful plastic, requiring no maintenance, was the modern break-through that made widespread patio living possible, particularly in parts of the country where weather is a factor.

Whether you own a modern split-level home or a comfortable older house, the patio is your key to gracious living.

Too, if you have an odd-shaped lot, or a corner that's hard to use, remember that very often a fence, a windbreak and a translucent plastic roof can convert it to a charming play area, creating more living space for you and your family.

Potatoes will bake much faster if you soak them in hot water 15 minutes before baking.

IF YOU'RE LOOKING for a conversation piece, you can take a few hints from the "patio teahouse" at the upper left that was built poolside in a California yard. Because of the light weight of the fiberglass reinforced panels, the roof could be built as a clear span, cutting down on construction costs. White panels in black-painted frames were attached to the fence to serve as windbreaks and simulate oriental screens. At the bottom of each screen is a shelf to hold a flower pot, creating an effect like a Japanese "tokonoma." (Alysynite Division of Reichhold Chemicals, Inc.)

Helicopter Rides Enjoyed at Shadow Mountain Club

Brightly colored flags circled the grassy area set aside for a see-through Bell model 47-J helicopter, when Shadow Mountain Club held Fourth of July festivities. Six minute trips were available to guests who wished a bird's eye view of the Palm Desert area. The helicopter, furnished by Briles in El Segundo, is the type used by the White House.

In the club's much-talked-about, eight-shaped pool, the younger generation were busily engaged in aquatic competition. In the Penny Pick-up contest, youngsters under five scrambled about the shallow end of the pool in search of pennies. With a total of 10 pennies, Mike Blatt walked away with a dime and the honors.

Craig Glass was the first to pass the pool's halfway point, when six to eight year olds competed in a half-the-length-of-the-pool free style race.

In two groups, nine to 11 year olds swam the length of the pool, with Georgette Haines and Biff Howard coming up winners.

Covering the figure-eight twice, Jim Damerel out-swam other 12 to 14 year olds.

Bill Cathcart and Richard Murphy challenged all comers to a pool-length race, and successfully met their challenge.

Children under 10 were judged on form, during the diving competition judged by Pete Pence. Pete was the club's recreation director during Easter week and was visiting with his bride, Luana, and sister, Penny, a student at Washington State University. Pete who is now affiliated with the broadcasting department of CBS, judged Stephanie Haines the winner.

The gay afternoon was topped off with a comedy touch, when Bill Cathcart, Ken Davis and Larry Hutcheson performed comedy dives off the high board and clowned about the lake-size pool in a small boat until, one by one, the boys became boatless.

Champagne Put to Best Use

When Mrs. Pat Hicks hosted a pool warming party at her Mor-Sun Circle home, Mildred Jackson brought a bottle of champagne to christen the water.

Needless to say, guests decided the water in the week-old pool was wet enough, and filled their glasses with the champagne.

Present at the class-clicking occasion were Mrs. Hicks three daughters, Christy, Carol and Sarah; her parents, the M. K. Weavers of Los Angeles; Mildred Jackson, and the Raymond Sullivans of Desert Hot Springs.

Mrs. Hicks, a teacher at Cahulla School, sails on the Matsonia on May 17, for a three week stay at The Reef. She will return to the Port of San Francisco and visit relatives in the Bay Area.

Line Firebox with Silver Foil

Silver lining. Here's a trick to save fuel and keep your barbecue new looking. Line the firebox with heavy-duty foil. (Or line the ash pit if there is a grate to hold the coals.)

Place the gravel or special insulating pellets, then charcoal right on the foil. The foil reflects the heat back on the food and speeds up cooking. Also keeps your equipment cleaner—it catches the melted fat and drippings. Some chefs like to line the hood of their smoker, too.

DO NOT SCRAMBLE

At the breakfast table, scrambled eggs can really hit the spot. Scrambled financial affairs, though, are something else again. That's why it is usually best to make a sharp distinction between money you invest and money you want to save—the money you want to have immediately available under all circumstances. Put your investments wherever you think they will earn the best return. But keep your savings where you know they will always be accessible—in the bank.

Poolside Conferences Map Future TV Fare

By MARC STEPP
At first glance they looked like any other group of vacationers, basking in the sunshine around the pool at the Palm Springs Biltmore. Second glance almost confirmed it.

But there were briefcases, charts and a secretary taking notes. Her notes reflected the fact that these men were weighing the fate of millions of dollars worth of television programming. Screen Gems was deciding on its 1962 products.

Angular, Irish Bill Dozier, vice president in charge of Screen Gems' West Coast operations, was in charge. About him were gathered four ranking members of his organization — executive producers Harry Ackerman, Robert Sparks and William Sackheim, and executive production manager Charles Fries.

Their decisions? All secret. You can find out about them in October of 1962.

"We sit down like this," Dozier explained later, "and try to map trends."

He smiled. "We also try to set a few trends while we're at it."

"Well," he let the wrinkles form in his forehead, "take the matter of program length."

"There are 25 hour-long shows on the networks this season. In our 1961-62 season — starting this October — there will be 46. We had two this past season with 'Naked City' and 'Route 66' and we'll have more next season."

"But everything seems to point to a reduction in 1962-63 so we're

Complaints On Leases Heard By Supervisors

RIVERSIDE — Protests on assessments of possessory interests by lessees of Palm Springs Indian lands were major items as the County Board of Supervisors sat as a board of equalization hearing complaints on assessed valuations throughout the county.

Zachary Pitts, president of the Indian Land Development Co. Inc., of Palm Springs, told the supervisors that the income method used by County Assessor Eric Waite to compute valuations on leases isn't "realistic." The valuation should be set on possession of the lease, he said.

"It has no value," Pitts declared.

"I don't believe that you pay $40,000 per year for something with no value," Supervisor Paul Anderson replied, referring to rentals paid on one of the development firm's properties.

Pitts explained he had leased the property involved at a nominal figure when the Indian land was not taxable. Subsequently, he put up buildings. With the changes which made him responsible, he had to lease the property on a 25-year lease with a 35-year option for renewal, or lose the building, he said.

"What could I do?" he asked. Pitts added that "if we have to pay these kinds of taxes, the Indians can keep the land."

The assessed valuation which Pitts asked be reduced to zero totaled $238,760. Of this $238,760 was assessed on improvements, $130,450 on the land.

Decision on Pitts' petition for reduction of the valuation and those of other lessees of Indian lands was deferred two weeks to allow further study by Waite.

Other protesters include Plaza Motors, McMahen Indian Realty Co., Motor-Huffman, and F. Harclerode.

cutting back. There ought to be about 35 hour shows that season."

Costly Errors
Errors can be costly in production firms such as Screen Gems (now the acknowledged leader in its field) but the company has made few. In Tuesday's Emmy awards, Screen Gems had seven nominations, the most any non-network production firm garnered. They won two with "Winston Churchill — The Valiant Years" and "Naked City," both on ABC.

The arrival of ABC in the field of high competition in network programming brought mixed reaction from Dozier, until two years ago the director of Hollywood programming for CBS-TV.

"They've equalized the market," he said. Dozier, "but they've also forced some unfortunate things by heightening the competition."

When he was connected with CBS-TV, Dozier had a direct hand in the presentation of such outstanding programs as "Playhouse 90," "Studio One," "You Are There," "Gunsmoke," "Perry Mason" and "Have Gun, Will Travel."

"Only a couple of them are still around," he lamented. "Take 'Playhouse 90' for instance. It was never a rating show, never a money maker. It was essentially a prestige show in which the network and the sponsor were satisfied with prestige only."

"When ABC arrived in the competition battle, the entire industry became more rating conscious than it had ever been. And 'Playhouse 90' couldn't meet this competition."

"The show was not a mass audience program and never was intended as such. The industry recognizes, I believe, that for most people television is simply a relief from boredom."

"The average viewer likes westerns and family situation comedy because they know what is going to happen next. They don't have to ponder, they don't have to concentrate. Most of these shows are essentially the same as they were a week before."

"When I was at CBS we used to get a couple of letters a week from people who would ask why we didn't let Perry Mason lose a case once in a while. That's silly, of course. It would be like having Palladin shot down. The series is over."

TV Gamble
The 33-year-old Nebraskan — married to actress Ann Rutledge for the past eight years — said that television can afford to gamble on product easier than motion pictures.

"It costs $65,000 to $75,000 for a pilot," he explained, "where a film can't be brought in for less than three quarters of a million."

"What's more, we don't need stars to make TV go."

"A star will help a TV show or series if it's a good show. If it's not good, no star can save you."

Dozier feels that federal supervision of some phases of television is necessary but that "in this century it's a wonder there isn't more mediocrity in television."

He chastised those who advocate a complete overhaul of TV saying that betterment of the media would be accomplished through "normal growth." He said that no one in his acquaintance had foreseen the tremendous growth that TV has recorded in the United States.

"Trying to supply product to a market that operates on hundreds of channels for 18 to 20 hours daily is a monumental task," Dozier explained. "You simply can't expect it all to be good."

But good will supplant bad in time and without a full stop of the media in order to get at the banal and the trivial.

"You don't pull up the plant to see how the roots are doing," he smiled, and headed back for the deck chair, the sunshine and additional discussions.

Tote Bag, My Child, Not For One's Toes

"Mother, what kind of bag is this?" asked the 10-year-old boy. "A tote bag dear," answered the mother. Para que is it for, to put your toes in?" ... That's a 10-year-old for you ...

If you were here on el fin de semana. You must have been one of the many guests that attended el matrimonio of senor Demetrio Ralph Estrada and the former Clara Fierro. Their wedding fue uno of the biggest affairs held here in Palm Springs, this year.

At the reception more than 400 attended ... and more than 600 at the dance had the Pavilion full to capacity ... You met sus amigos from Los Angeles, Montebello, Beaumont, Banning, Cabazon, all the way down to Calexico ... Senora Estrada the bridegroom's mother was so tired on Sunday she was almost in bed, but she confessed, "It was all worth it. I'd do it again and again to make my sons happy."

The wedding ceremony was performed "a la Mexicana." They had La Mancuerna or Lazo as some people call it, which was put on the bride and groom. This symbolizes that from now on you are together and should go this way through life no matter what ... Until death ... "Las Arras" is a small treasure chest about one and half inches long with about 8 or 10 coins inside.

This the bridegroom gives his bride during the ceremony to show that he will give her the dinero he earns through life ... Of course all this is a Mexican custom, like we said, but it's beautiful and very effective ... Well the main object is that the couple was married had a lovely wedding, and like in the stories esperamos that they'll live happily ever after ...

During the Summer try and drive carefully, not only because you should but remember el calor ... So drive well, drive careful and let's not fail to save a Life ... May God bless You ... Y ... Hasta Luego!

U.S. PEACE CORPS NOW 'IN BUSINESS'

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Peace Corps is in business.

Six months ago, it was just a campaign phrase that had fired the public imagination. Four months ago it came to life on paper, when President Kennedy signed an executive order creating it, and named his brother-in-law, Sargent Shriver, as its director.

Today the corps is a flesh-and-blood reality. It has a headquarters staff of 150 people bustling around on three floors of a commercial office building two blocks from the White House. And—more important — it has about 200 real live young Americans already in training, on college campuses in Texas, California and New Jersey, for voluntary service in underdeveloped countries.

Several hundred additional corps members will be selected and sent to training centers during July and August. By September, the first contingent will go abroad.

Five Projects Approved

Five Peace Corps projects have been approved — in Ghana, the Philippines, Columbia, Chile and the Caribbean island of St. Lucia. Others are in the works for India, Pakistan, Thailand, Nigeria and several Latin American countries. Officials estimate that 1,000 corps members will be on the job overseas or en route to foreign posts by the end of the year.

In the transition from idea to actuality, the Peace Corps has undergone changes which have made it a little less romantic than the original dream but, in the opinion of congressmen and diplomats, considerably more practical.

There is no longer any talk of a vast army of enthusiastic youths swarming abroad to live in mud huts and perform menial manual labor without pay.

It is now clear that the Peace Corps will be a relatively small organization for the foreseeable future. Officials expect no more than 3,000 members by the end of 1962.

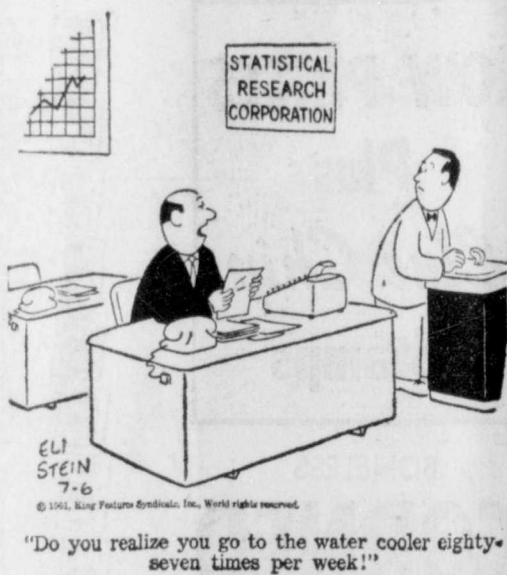

Need Skilled Help

It is also clear that warm hearts and willing hands, although certainly needed, will not be enough to qualify for Peace Corps service. The underdeveloped countries have plenty of manpower for manual labor. What they need—and what the Peace Corps all try to supply — is skilled people who know how to teach school, build barns, survey roads, raise chickens, or handle other tasks requiring experience, training or technical proficiency.

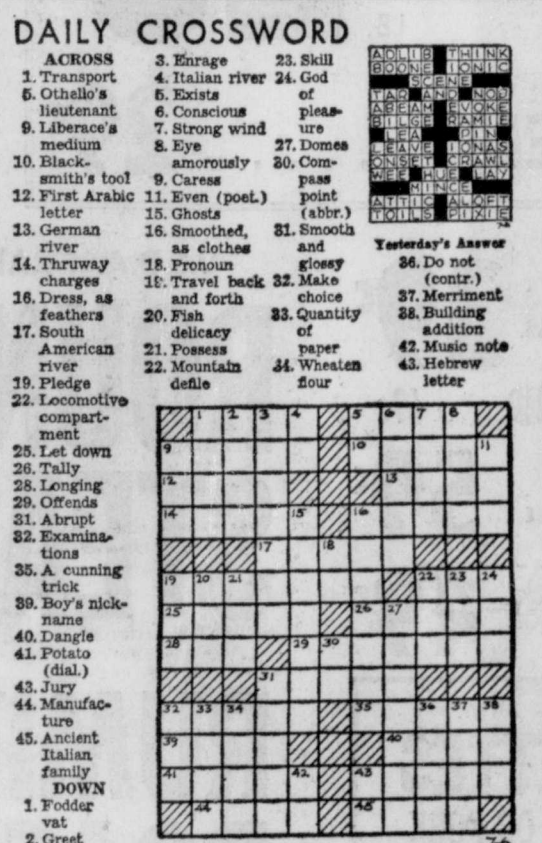

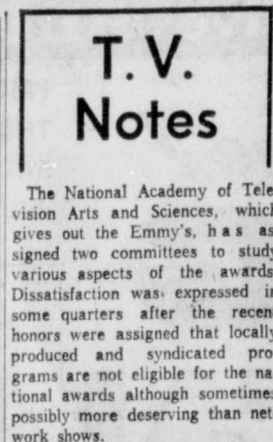

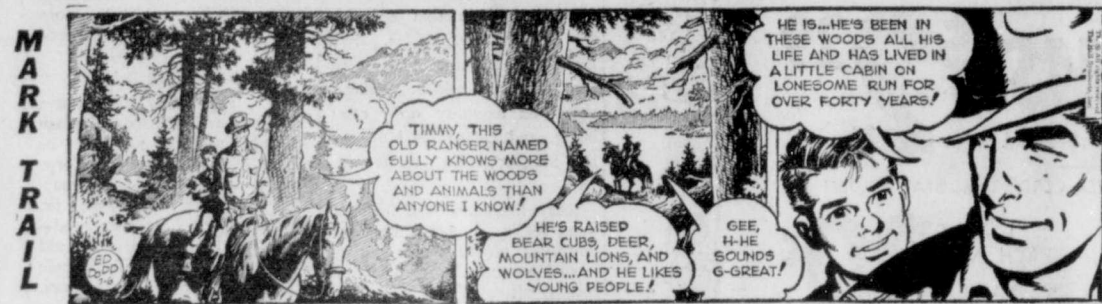

Living conditions for the Peace Corps, while rugged by American standards, will be well above the mud hut level. The rule of thumb is that corps members will receive allowances sufficient to enable them to maintain approximately the same standard of living as their counterparts in the countries in which they are serving. Thus the 300 Americans who teach English will live like Filipino teachers, and not like primitive Bantok tribesmen of the mountain provinces.

This is a great relief to diplomatic officials and members of Congress who had feared that a horde of immature, politically unsophisticated youngsters might be sent abroad to wreak further damage on America's image in the underdeveloped countries.

Corps members will receive from two to four months of intensive training before they take up their duties abroad. They will study foreign languages and customs, brush up their knowledge of America's history and institutions, and take refresher courses in their own skills or technical specialties.

Throw Away the Crutch

To use an extreme of understatement, the future federal budget picture is both dark and blurred. Deficits running into the billions, are in prospect. If other proposals—not only for beefing up defense, but for extending the welfare state on a huge scale—become law, these deficits will be multiplied many times over.

Without debating the pros and cons of any of the spending bills which have been passed or have been proposed, one suggestion certainly should meet with the approval of everyone. That is, put governmental commercial operations on a self-sustaining basis and get rid of the red ink.

Post office services and, more specifically, parcel post, provide a first-class example. Just why the government should carry parcels on a below-cost, deficit basis, is difficult to understand—this is a 100 per cent commercial service, and should be priced on a commercial basis. But the government has furnished a financial crutch most of the time since parcel post came into being, and the taxpayer paid the bill.

At best, we're in for plenty of federal financial problems in the years immediately ahead, and not the least of these is the looming specter of more inflation, more degradation of the dollar. We shouldn't compound the problems by permitting government to perform commercial business services on a deficit basis.

A durable American tourist slogan reads: "See America First." Current congressional action on billboard regulation may make it necessary to add: "While You Can."

The House has failed to renew (and a committee would have the Senate do likewise) a federal bonus for states agreeing to control billboards along the new interstate expressway system. Unless letter writers cause a Senate reversal, the impetus for local billboard-control will go out the window. And motorists might as well stop looking out their windows in many areas.

Originally the billboard - control bonus was put into the federal highway program because of an outpouring of voter letters favoring it. Since then two states - Maryland and North Dakota - have fully qualified for it. Ten others are currently attempting to prove their good sense.

Meanwhile, although there is no sign that the sentiment of most motorists has changed, congressmen seem to feel the heat is off. If the public isn't heard from, the billboard lobby, with $37,000,000-worth of taxpayer bought advertising space available, certainly is.

But the freedom of motorists who pay for the expressways clearly should transcend the freedom of advertisers to erect signs. And the argument for the informational value of signs is weak. Travelers don't need to know the names of national manufacturers and products in order to drive intelligently.

Let the Senators remember that the beauty of their country should be more than sign-deep.

(Wall Street Journal)

A committee of "experts" at the United Nations has just reported that, sure enough, the Soviets are perfectly justified in claiming they are victims of "geographic inequality" in the selection of U. N. staff members. So the experts recommend at least 100 more key jobs for Communist - bloc personnel, quite possibly by reducing the representation of the West and especially the United States.

We're certainly glad to see such zeal for absolute equality of treatment. And while the experts are about it, we wish they'd look into another area where the U. S. seems to be getting more than its entitled to. In 1960, the check for running the U. N. came to $335 million and wouldn't you know, the U. S. picked up $148 million of it.

As for the misused Soviets, we blush to say that they were allowed to put up only $18 million. In view of Uncle Sam's disregard for equality, as seen by the U. N. committee, is it any wonder the Kremlin so often chooses to ignore its flagrantly unfair assessments?

William H. Smith, president of the Coachella Valley Savings and Loan Association, announced an 84 per cent gain in resources from Jan. 1 to June 30. Assets had increased $596,191 in six months to total $1,296,909.

Fire Chief William Leoncio said he hopes to have the new fire station at Sunrise Way and Ramon Road in operation some time next week.

Postmaster R. M. Gorham announced receipt of the new-type postal money orders. They may be cashed at any post office or bank without any collection fee.

Capt. Orest Johnson was acting chief of police in the absence of A. G. Kettmann, who is on a vacation and honeymoon trip.

A letter from Attorney General Earl Warren asked that Palm Springs send one or more peace officers to a civilian defense training school at U.C.L.A.

The new city ambulance purchased by the Lions Club will be delivered next Thursday. Committee chairman Jerry Sanborn said an additional $100 was needed to paint the ambulance white and put a Red Cross emblem and the letters "City of Palm Springs" on it.

Delegates who had just returned from Boys State in Sacramento were David Etichason, Gene Morgan, Edison McDaniels, Pete Nila and Bob Guyer.

An editorial entitled "Headed Toward Bankruptcy" stated that indebtedness of city, county, state and federal governments now amount to 26 per cent of the country's property value. The average American family is paying $500 a year in taxes. The present depression will not have been an unmitigated evil if it teaches the people that the time has come to demand less of the government instead of more.

DEAR ABBY: The bird your reader inquired about, with the shiny black plumage and yellow beak is the STARLING. It is found in the USA and Canada all year 'round. I discovered this bird while I was hanging out my wash in my short shorts. I heard a long, low whistle and thought a man was trying to be fresh with me.

I am told they eat destructive insects, but they can also drill holes in your roof and are extremely dirty. They make a terrible racket when a flock of them gets together. They are an amusing and handsome bird, but will soon be the world's worst feathered pest.

MRS. F.

DEAR MRS. F.: Not while the pigeon is with us!

DEAR ABBY: I have not made a habit of reading letters to Abby, but I think I shall, for each time my glance falls upon your column I realize what I have missed in the study of human nature.

I was particularly intrigued with a letter signed "Mother of a Doctor." She was disgusted with her daughter - in - law who insisted on referring to her husband as "The Doctor."

I am reminded of Bill and Marie, whom we have known since childhood. Colonels were a dime a dozen in the last war, but Marie started calling her husband "The Colonel." This revealed an inferiority complex and a lack of taste.

As a West Pointer and ex-Captain, I wouldn't tolerate my wife's calling me "The Captain." My father was a doctor, and none of us (least of all my mother) called him "The Doctor." There were 50 other good ones in our town. "Mother of a Doctor" has my sympathy.

This Side of The Sun

By R. F. 'Phat' Graettinger

Into every life some rain must fall
But here we had almost none at all.

The philosopher who penned that phrase that there must be some precipitation in every life, apparently didn't spend much time on the desert.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA has just wound up its driest year since records were kept but I don't think we can go along with that here.

Although I haven't seen the official figures for the 1960-61 rainfall year in Palm Springs, I doubt if it was as low as that record dry season a few years ago. I believe it was 1937-38.

The rainfall year, you know, starts at one minute after midnight July 1 and ends at midnight the next June 30.

IN THAT RECORD dry year I am writing about, the total fall here in 12 months was less than an inch - the official total as announced by the fire department which kept the record, was 0.94 inches. That year made headlines.

I believe, however, we're heading for some wet years ahead. Like in the late 30s and early 40s when the season's rainfall ranged from 10 to 14 inches. Much to the discontent of hotel men and others catering to the touring visitors.

I CAN RECALL one year recently when there was some serious talk of changing the days of the weekend here, much as we change the hands of the clock for daylight time.

That was the year it started and cleared up on Monday morning and clared up on Monday morning for five straight weekends. The middle of the week was bright, sunny and beautiful.

It got so that hotel and restaurant men considered making the official weekend Wednesday and Thursday, instead of Saturday and Sunday.

Would have worked, too, except we couldn't get the cooperation of the people on the coast.

BUT WE OUGHT to get some rain this month. Several years, since I have been here, after three or four 117-118 degree days in July, black clouds would stack up against the mountains west and south and let go.

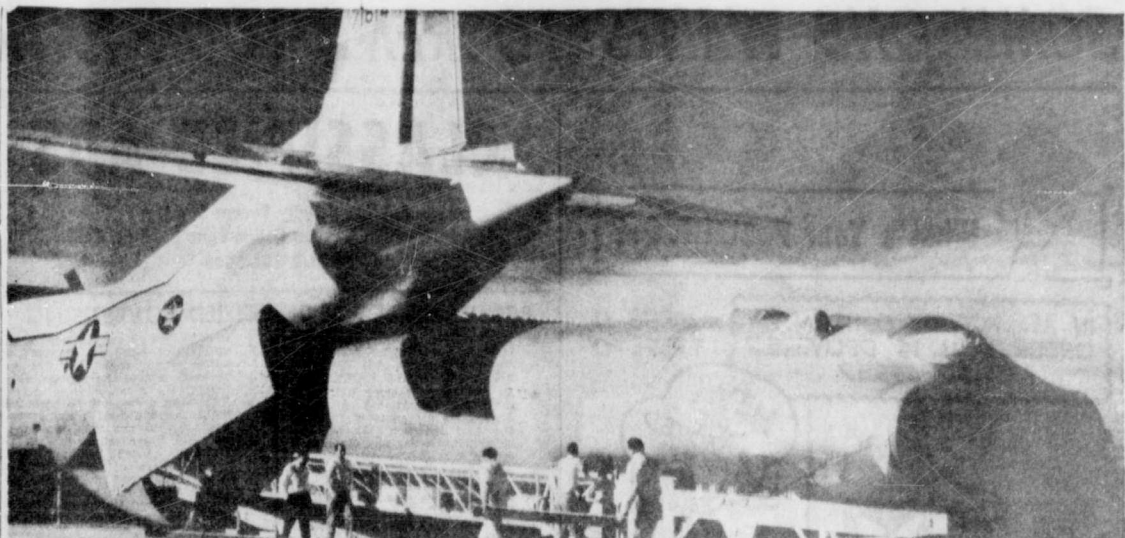

Water would churn out of every canyon and before that bridge across Palm Canyon wash on Highway 111 was built, Cathedral City and points east, were 24 hours from Palm Springs.

ONE JULY NIGHT it started raining at midnight and stopped an hour later. But in that time 2.45 inches were measured. That really tore up things because it was before any serious work had been done on flood control.

A study of weather charts, such as kept as a hobby by Bill Lipmann, indicates our climate isn't changing. It just has its moods, like people, and we're bound to be pretty soggy again.

ACCORDING to Cliff Brown, the C. of C. publicity chief, the ideal situation would be for rain two or three nights a week, starting at 2 a.m. and ending at 6 a.m.

He's working on that.

THE OPERATIONAL USAF Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile is loaded aboard a C-133 transport at Miramar NAS, San Diego, for shipment to one of the Atlas ICBM bases. The Atlas is built for the Air Force in the San Diego plant of General Dynamics Astronautics. As systems integrator, Astronautics builds the Atlas airframe, autopilot system and various components, assembles and checks out the missiles, conducts research and development flight tests, and assists the Air Force in activating new bases and training personnel.

So What's Cheerful On Today's Frontier?

BY HOLMES ALEXANDER

WASHINGTON — One of these days a man ought to get up early and look for something to be cheerful about with this Kennedy Administration. The President's back is well, his virus is cured, and—well, anything else?

With all those hot - shot, overpublicized demigods in the White House, you'd think that staff work would be next to infallible. But the President nominated a Washington politico and personal assistant, Frank Reeves, to be District of Columbia Commissioner, and a Senate committee found him to be a tax delinquent. The White House promptly announced that hereafter — oh, that open barn door and the empty stall!

checks would be made on the fiscal integrity of nominees.

Late for Committees

You can call that a minor matter, but on June 28th Mr. Kennedy announced that he was appointing a panel of scientists to find out what capacity the Russians had of cheating on a nuclear bomb-testing ban that has been in being for almost three years. At his press conference, I asked the President if we didn't pretty well know whether or not the Reds had been testing, and he said we didn't.

Not only is it pretty late to start appointing committees, but his is a committee of scientists. As a class, scientists take pride in being cautious about making up their minds. They are notoriously wooly-headed on political matters and often rejoice in being citizens of the "world" rather than being cabined, cribbed, and confined by national loyalty. But if there ever was a subject where it would be wisdom to err on the side of suspicion and presupposition, and where a physicist could be forgiven if he were biased toward American nationalism, this is it. The day after Election Day was the time for JFK to start to inform himself about Soviet capabilities of sneak testing.

At the same press conference the President began talking economic growthmanship and sounded like Dick Nixon for a while, but he soon bogged down amid roseate statistics which defy serious analysis. Before leaving for a holiday at Hyannisport, Mr. Kennedy signed a multimillion dollar bill to create something similar to the Russian Intourist — a centralized governmental agency housed in the Commerce Department, to bring foreign travelers over here.

Diminishing Returns

Further centralization showed up when Congress unwillingly accepted his plan to authorize Federal Trade and Civil Aeronautics, although Congress was still resisting the collectivized farm bill.

Agriculture Secretary Freeman may be luckier than he thinks if he fails to get the commissariat authority over farmers. This kind of power in Labor Secretary Goldberg has already proved to have diminishing returns.

During the blizzards of Inaugural week last January, Goldberg moved right into the New York tugboat strike. By manipulating his prestige as a New Frontiersman, Goldberg brought an element of trust and good will (as I'm told by one of the participants of the conference) which ended the strike. It didn't, however, settle the central industrial issue of whether a company had a right to replace men with new machinery, or whether they must have the union's consent.

Glamour Wore Off

But in June, we had the maritime strike and Goldberg, who had been moving in and out of various collective bargaining disputes for six months, went to New York to get things settled. What he got was a rude stiff arm by the striking unions. The next thing you knew the administration had to invoke the Taft - Hartley Act, that "slave law," as the Laborites used to call it.

Goldberg found that his power had dwindled as his glamour wore off. This may be the fate in store for JFK, who started his term so wonderfully, bore himself so royally and gave us all such hope.

Well, maybe, by rising before dawn and putting one's mind to it, cheerful omens could be conjured up. But about all we have to be hopeful about today is that this is a brave man with a sharp mind in the White House. When will he start to click?

Highway Patrol Stands Ready To Come to Aid

Capt. Lloyd W. Watson, local commander of the California Highway Patrol, today expressed the hope that vacationers from Riverside County "will have a care-free journey, unmarred by accident or other delay."

"Of course, the patrol stands ready to help in any highway emergency which may arise. In the event of an emergency, including an accident, dial the operator and ask for ZENITH 1,200, the Patrol's statewide emergency number," he said.

"If you desire information, any patrolman will be glad to assist you, or you may call the patrol's business number listed in the telephone book."

Big Bear Road Opens July 21

Recreation facilities in the Big Bear Lake area will have greater accessibility after July 21, the date scheduled for opening of State Highway 38, the Automobile Club of Southern California reported today.

The old highway from Redlands to Barton Flats, not presently designated with a state highway number, and the new portion from Barton Flats to Big Bear City will be posted as Highway 38, the Auto Club said.

Big Bear, an all-year resort with plentiful winter sports facilities on neighboring slopes and summer sports on the lake, is accessible now over Rim of the World Drive (State Hwy. 18) past the Crestline and Arrowhead areas; City Creek Rd. (Hwy. 30) from Patton through Running Springs; or from Apple Valley and Lucerne Valley over Hwy. 18.

Taking No Chances

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Mrs. F. P. Keck who works in a church nursery had to remove a church offering envelope from a small boy's coat. Mrs. Keck said the mother had stapled the envelope to the coat, to make sure that the lad wouldn't lose it.

Preparedness at Schools Eyed

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The state Disaster Office announced today it is conducting a statewide survey of disaster preparedness in California schools.

Allan K. Jonas, disaster office director, said questionnaires have been mailed to all schools. He said the answers will enable the Disaster Office and the state Department of Education to provide further guidance on disaster planning to schools.

Angels Take Twins

6-2 Victory Is 5th Win In Succession

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—The Los Angeles Angels, in fighting trim after Wednesday night's 6-2 victory over Minnesota, sent Ryne Duren to the mound today in the hopes of making it two in a row.

Duren (3-8) will be opposed on the mound by Jerry Arigo (0-1).

Steve Bilko and Ken Hunt drove in three runs apiece to give the Angels their victory.

Two doubles by Bilko accounted for the first three runs and Hunt put the game on ice with a three-run homer in the ninth.

Bilko Provides Clincher
Hunt's round-tripper was his 18th of the season. Bilko's second two-bagger came in the eighth and scored the tying and winning runs. A single by Joe Koppe and a double by Hunt preceded Bilko's smash to the right field fence.

The Angels' initial run crossed the plate in the opening frame when Bilko doubled in Koppe who had singled.

Twins' lefty Jim Kaat and the Angels' Eli Grba hooked up in a tight duel over the first six innings. Grba left in the sixth for a pinch hitter and Kaat was removed after Bilko's eighth inning double.

Jim Donohue picked up his third win in relief against two losses. Kaat was charged with his eighth loss in 11 decisions.

Jim Lemon drove in both Minnesota tallies with a solo homer in the second and a sharp single to right in the fourth. The homer was his third in three days and his ninth of the season.

Twins' Threat Dies
Minnesota threatened in the ninth when it loaded the bases, but the rally died when Billy Martin fled out to short center.

The Twins played without shortstop Zoilo Versalles, who failed to appear for the game, instead attending a farewell dinner with some Cuban friends.

Twins president Calvin Griffith suspended Versalles for an indefinite period and levied a fine of $500 on the young Cuban player.

Versalles had announced earlier that he was leaving the club to return to his family in Cuba. He said he was not quitting baseball, just taking the rest of the season off.

Another Cuban, Jose Valdivielso, was at shortstop Wednesday night against Los Angeles.

Giants Bow 3-2 Before Reds In Homecoming

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Giants had just lost another one and there was manager Alvin Dark disconsolately standing around in his underwear while the team was losing its socks.

"All defeats are tough," the suddenly-aging pilot declared following Wednesday night's 3-2 trimming by the league-leading Cincinnati Reds.

Dark, who didn't want to say much else, allowed that he would start Juan Marichal (6-5) today against southpaw Jim O'Toole (6-7) whose Reds now lead the National League by three games. San Francisco has lost five of its last seven and is flirting with fourth place.

Sherman Jones, a Giant discard who went to Cincinnati last May to close out the deal for Ed Bailey, returned to haunt them last night as he pitched his first win of the season.

Usually a relief pitcher until he got some starting experience under his belt this spring at Jersey City, Jones held the Giants to a pair of singles in the first eight innings, then was derailed in the ninth after giving up two more.

One of those story book finales seemed underway after Jim Brossard took over for Jones and with two out gave up a single which loaded the bases, then walked Jim Davenport to force in the second San Francisco tally.

Manager Fred Hutchinson then rushed in side-arming southpaw Bill Henry to face Ed Bressoud, the fourth and last pinch-hitter of the inning. While a crowd of 20,755 made Candlestick Park rock, Henry worked the count to three and two on Bressoud. Then Ed hoisted a routine fly to center fielder Vada Pinson and that was it.

Mike McCormick pitched the first seven innings and lost his fourth in a row while dropping to a 7-9 record. The key bloop was bases empty home runs by Pinson in the sixth inning and Gordon Colman in the seventh. Pinson's broke a 1-1 tie.

Cards Crash Dodgers 9-1 With Four Homers

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Dodgers are off to a dismal start on a home stand after a fine 10-5 road trip.

In the opening of their 11-game stay at the Coliseum Wednesday night, the Angelinos dropped a 9-1 decision to the St. Louis Cardinals due mainly to three homers by big Bill White and four-hit pitching by fastballer Bob Gibson.

Gibson also got a two-run homer and a double to help in achieving left-hander can hit homers in the Coliseum if he really wants to. The 6-foot, 195-pound first baseman hit drives off Dodger starter Johnny Podres and reliever Jim Golden that traveled better than 300 feet over the right field fence.

In the fourth inning, he blasted one off Roger Craig that carried more than 400 feet over the center field barrier.

Podres (8-2) lasted only 2 2/3 innings, giving up three runs and five hits.

Harassed By Injuries
The Dodgers squeezed out their lone run in the third inning on singles by Maury Wills and Ron Fairly and a fielder's choice by Willie Davis.

Dodger manager Walt Alston must juggle his lineup this evening because of injuries. Tommy Davis, who played third base, had to leave the game after seven innings when he aggravated an old muscle injury in his left thigh.

Bobby Aspromonte finished the game at third. Jim Gilliam, the all-purpose man, is ailing with a hip bruise and Daryl Spencer is out for at least two weeks with a slight fracture of a leg bone. Gil Hodges has an injured wrist.

Cincinnati comes to town Friday night for a four-game series and if some of the Dodger invalids don't recover in a hurry, the Reds have a fine chance to lengthen their league lead.

White proved last night that a

Maris Gains 32nd Homer In Yank Win

NEW YORK (UPI)—In the American League the second-place New York Yankees moved to within a half game of first place with a 6-0 win over the Cleveland Indians, while league-leading Detroit was splitting a doubleheader with Boston, winning the first, 6-2, and dropping the second game, 8-3.

The Baltimore Orioles blanked the Washington Senators, 2-0, the Los Angeles Angels beat the Minnesota Twins, 6-2, and the Kansas City Athletics defeated the Chicago White Sox, 8-3, in a game limited to six innings by rain.

The Braves broke a four-game losing streak with their two victories over the floundering Phils.

Roger Maris hit his 32nd homer to go 17 games ahead of Babe Ruth's record pace in the Yankees' triumph over the Indians.

Rocky Colavito drove in five runs to power the Tigers to their first game victory over the Red Sox. He hit his 21st homer in the opener and 22nd in the nightcap, but homers by Jim Pagliaroni, Gary Geiger and Chuck Schilling plus the fine relief pitching of Mike Forniello caused the Tigers' downfall in the finale.

Dick Hall pitched a four-hitter against the Senators to help the Orioles keep intact their record of never having lost a game at Griffith Stadium this season.

Steve Bilko and Ken Hunt drove in three runs apiece against the Twins to lead the Angels to their fifth victory in a row.

The Athletics shelled Juan Pizarro and Frank Baumann for eight runs in the first two innings for their victory against the stumbling White Sox.

McKinley Set For Laver

WIMBLEDON, England UPI — Sandra Reynolds of South Africa was favored to defeat Britain's Angela Mortimer today in the semifinals of the women's singles in the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Renee Schuurman, Sandra's countrywoman, met Christine Truman of Britain in the other semifinal match.

Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., prolonged American interest in the men's singles Wednesday when he beat Britain's Mike Sangster, 6-4, 6-4, 8-6, to reach the final round with Rod Laver of Australia. McKinley and Laver will meet for the title Friday.

Karen Hantze of Chula Vista, Calif., and Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., attempted to further U.S. prestige today when they faced Sally Moore of Bakersfield, Calif., and Lesley Turner of Australia in the semi-finals of the women's doubles.

Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., and Justina Brick of St. Louis were pitted against Jiri Javorsky and Mrs. Vera Sukova of Czechoslovakia in a mixed quarter-final doubles match.

McKinley said he has not given any thought to the possibility of turning professional if he whips Laver, who topped India's Ramanathan Krishnan, 6-2, 8-6, 6-2, in the other semi-final.

Sports In Brief

LOS ANGELES UPI — The 81-foot sloop Sirius II led the 22nd biennial Trans-Pacific Yacht Race from Los Angeles to Honolulu, according to latest reports today.

In second place was Diamond Head, a 72-foot yawl, followed by Ticonderoga, a 72-foot ketch. The two Japanese square-riggers trailed most of the 41 entries.

INGLEWOOD UPI — Nine hard-running classified allowance performers competed today at Hollywood Park in the $10,000 Western Airlines Purse, top event of an eight-race program.

The field for the featured seventh included La Dama Corp. and Rancho Rio Hondo's Notable II and Alex Islas Jr's Howard G.

The track was dark Wednesday.

PACOIMA UPI — More than 100 of the nation's top trapshooters began firing preliminary rounds today at the Golden Valley Gun Club in preparation for a $17,000 weekend competition.

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England UPI — Cornell University's lightweight crew rowed against Eliot House Harvard today in the Challenge Cup eight-oared competition in the Royal Henley Regatta.

Kent School of Connecticut, the third U.S. entry in the Challenge Cup, was pitted against a crew from the University College of Dublin.

YOUTHFUL DODGERS STAGE 14-11 WIN

A Dodger Rookie team with a lot of punch but disappointing pitching finally outlasted a good Coachella Valley Savings and Loan club 14-11 at the Polo Grounds last night.

For awhile it looked as if the locals, under the splendid coaching of Warren Linville, might carry the day, but a mighty grand slam home run by Larry Ramsey over the right-center field fence at the 375 foot mark in the eighth inning put the Dodgers in the lead to stay.

Earlier Coachella Valley tied the score twice and finally went ahead in the fifth frame by four runs in a rally sparked by Cleo James' double.

James, a longtime local athletic hero, was certainly one last night. He crashed a three run homerun in the second to tie the game at 4-4 and then led off the fourth with a triple to left field. All in all, he was on base five times and scored four runs himself.

Both teams used three pitchers to try to stem the slugfest. Local starter George Hertzke, who hurled six innings, was warmly applauded when he retired for Johnny Andreas. Leroy Segundo replaced Andreas. Jim Gilbert and Bob Selznick finally turned the tide for the Dodgers and the locals got no more men home after the fifth.

Doubles by Ramsey and Rube Marquardt had helped put the Rookies ahead 4-0 in the first. They went ahead again in the third on a home run by Willie Brown.

However, the Dodgers' big inning was the eighth when Ramsey hit his grand slammer. They added two more runs after that, but it was just icing on the cake. The Dodgers' $100,000 bonus player, Kit Gleason only got one hit in five times at bat and that was a paltry single in the eighth.

A good crowd of several hundred watched the nearly three hour long contest.

Simsarian Downs JPs 9-3 In 2nd

Stan Martin, Simsarian moundsman, struck out 10 Junior Police hitters to lead his team in a 9-3 victory over the JP squad in Williams field last night.

Dana Hollinger, JP hurler, fanned eight in a vain effort to stem the Simsarian rush.

The game, which gives Simsarian a two game edge in the Little League finals, was tied two - all to the fifth inning, when the Simsarian tallies mounted. The JPs lead in hits, 7 to 6, booked two errors to one for Simsarian.

Game three is slated for Saturday at 8 p.m.

Hodge Podge Has Good Bowling

Rudy Zeman, PS Ladies Saints and Sinners member in the Hodge Podge League mixed fours, rolled a firm 570 series after a lesson from lanes pro Gene Goff. Team mate Rick Scarns pegged a 523, as did James Pick, of Mayfair Nine. Andy Anderson, Industrial Electric, pegged a 525 series.

Jerry Shilder leads with a 533 series, followed by Louise Strebe with a 446 in the ladies class. Both roll for Toys for Men. Virginia Richardson rolled a high series of 440, with a high game of 164.
